Practical first steps to shield what you have built

You Don't Have to Be a Millionaire to Protect Like One

Asset protection is for anyone who owns a home, a car, a business, or savings. Here is how to start.

Most people think asset protection is only for the wealthy. The truth is the opposite — those with the least to lose often need it most.

What Is Asset Protection? (Plain English)

Asset protection means putting legal walls around what you own so that if something goes wrong — a lawsuit, a divorce, a creditor — they cannot easily take it.

Your shield (insurance, titling, LLCs, trusts) keeps threats from reaching what you own.

Real-world threats

What can threaten your assets? Car accidents, business disputes, medical debt, divorce, and contractor lawsuits — everyday risks for ordinary families.

The 5 Levels of Protection

- 1 Proper Insurance
Umbrella policies and adequate liability coverage. Costs about $200–$500/year and is your first line of defense.
- 2 Correct Titling
How you legally own things matters (joint tenancy vs. tenancy by the entirety). The right title adds protection at no cost.
- 3 LLC for Business Owners
Separates your personal assets from your business liability so one cannot sink the other.
- 4 Homestead Exemption
In many states, your primary home is partially or fully protected from creditors.
- 5 Trust
For larger estates, a properly drafted trust provides the strongest protection and avoids probate.

The Trust, Explained Simply

A trust is like a legal box. You put your stuff in the box. The box has rules about who gets what and when. Because the box owns the stuff — not you personally — it is harder for creditors to touch.

Common Types of Trusts

Revocable Living Trust: You keep control and can change it anytime. Great for avoiding probate.

Irrevocable Trust: You give up control, but gain the strongest protection from creditors.

Medicaid Asset Protection Trust: Helps protect your home and savings from long-term care costs.
